From the Heart - by Fr. Kern

As we pull into Labor Day and all that entails such as the unofficial end of summer, start of the school year for students, fall sports fully underway, and last chance vacations, I would like to thank you for your support, kindness, prayers, and patience in the transition of my schedule with the addition of the Newman Center in Mankato as a part of my pastoral ministry. If I might provide an update on how I am doing...I am very pleased with how things have transitioned and while I have had to give up a few things along the way and am present less in the Tri-Parish office and three communities than I would idealize, the schedule that I have established seems like it can function even as I iron out some of the wrinkles. The Newman Center is a presence-heavy ministry and there is essentially constant activity or students in the new building there on campus. This is certainly a blessing but also me recognizing how to spread the pace of life to make sense for my role as the pastor of four communities. The balance will come in time and perhaps the biggest question I am figuring out is how to raise the funds for the ministry at the Newman Center as it is vastly different than the generous parishioners we have here (as the primary means of income are not the people who directly benefit from the ministry)! God has given me incredible grace in the transition and my heart is full of peace over what the Lord has asked me to take on.

Thank you for your gracious welcome of Bishop Harrington last weekend. It was a privilege for our parishes to have him here to celebrate the weekend masses. I am grateful to him for his continuous generosity and joy as a priest and bishop of our churches.

Finally, as regular school begins, I am very happy to begin another year of Faith Formation in our Tri-Parish. Classes will begin Wednesday the 23rd of September. We are blessed with catechists who willingly give of their time and energy to teach and hand on the faith of our Church. I am more and more convinced that our need is for a deeper faith and love of the Person of Jesus to be handed on to our youth even more than just the passing on of knowledge. Yet, we need to understand our faith as well as it is impossible to love someone we do not know. The Church always tries to hold these two things in balance and so it is imperative that families work to instill these gifts and virtues in their own lives as well! I look forward to the year ahead.

Stewardship means respecting and sharing our resources as an expression of gratitude to God. It reminds us that we are the administrators, not the owners, of our assets. Christian stewardship can be identified by several meaningful characteristics, the most important is that it strengthens our relationship with God. It is a way of life. Stewardship calls us to share a portion of our time, talent, and treasure so that the Good News of Jesus Christ may be shared with those who do not know Him.

Sunday Bible Reflections with Dr. Scott Hahn

The incident in today's Gospel is recorded only by Mark. The key line is what the crowd says at the end: "He has done all things well." In the Greek, this echoes the creation story, recalling that God saw all the things he had done and declared them good (see Genesis 1:31).

Mark also deliberately evokes Isaiah's promise, which we hear in today's First Reading that God will make the deaf hear and the mute speak. He even uses a Greek word to describe the man's condition (mogilalon = "speech impediment") that's only found in one other place in the Bible—in the Greek translation of today's Isaiah passage, where the prophet describes the "dumb" singing.

The crowd recognizes that Jesus is doing what the prophet had foretold. But Mark wants us to see something far greater—that, to use the words from today's First Reading: "Here is your God."

Notice how personal and physical the drama is in the Gospel. Our focus is drawn to a hand, a finger, ears, a tongue, spitting. In Jesus, Mark shows us, God has truly come in the flesh.

What He has done is to make all things new, a new creation (see Revelation 21:1-5). As Isaiah promised, He has made the living waters of baptism flow in the desert of the world. He has set captives free from their sins, as we sing in today's Psalm. He has come that rich and poor might dine together in the Eucharistic feast, as James tells us in today's Epistle.

He has done for each of us what He did for that deaf mute. He has opened our ears to hear the Word of God, and loosed our tongues that we might sing praises to Him.

Let us then, in the Eucharist, again give thanks to our glorious Lord Jesus Christ. Let us say with Isaiah, Here is our God, He comes to save us. Let us be rich in faith, that we might inherit the kingdom promised to those who love Him.
