Hello,

I am so excited to be the pastor of Mapleton, Vernon Center, and Good Thunder, and to be the chaplain of the Newman Center in Mankato. I have gotten a foretaste of the great things to come because I am writing this from Catholic Heart Work Camp in Fremont, NE. Most of the kids on this trip are from the Tri-parish. What great kids we have here in our parishes.

Just a quick history of my life. I was found on the doorstep of the police station when I was about 1 year old. I was adopted when I was about 2.5 by a family in Iowa. I grew up and went to college in Ames, IA. So I'm a Cyclone fan. While studying computer engineering in college, I became more involved in my Christian faith, and then later, specifically in my Catholic faith.

After college, I worked at the Mayo Clinic doing computer work for the Radiation Oncology department. After five years, I entered Immaculate Heart of Mary Seminary in Winona. After two years, I did major seminary at Sacred Heart Major Seminary in Detroit, MI. I was ordained a priest June 11, 2010.

I enjoy sports in general. My two favorite sports to play are golf and tennis. Call me if you would like to play. I don't really cook. I almost burnt down the rectory in Luverne once while trying to cook. So if you want a happy and healthy priest, invite me over for dinner. I know my schedule will be busy, but don't stop trying to find a night for me to come over. My exchange rate is free computer help for a free meal.

This weekend's Gospel is tough to hear. Jesus doesn't want to be second or third in our lives. He wants to be first in our lives. He wants to be more important to us than our parents, even our children. Not that we shouldn't love them, but we need to remember the one who gave us our parents, who gave us our children. We must spend time with Jesus in prayer. In our busy lives, there is no better place to be than praying in front of the tabernacle, in front of Jesus in the Eucharist.

Peace of Christ,
Father Vogel

The soul of the one who loves God always swims with joy, always keeps holiday, and is always in a mood for singing.

A word about Mass Intentions: If there is a cross by the name that person is deceased. If there is not a cross the intention is for a living person or people.

Office will be closed Tuesday, July 4

One of the largest crowds ever assembled for a canonization—250,000—symbolized the reaction of millions touched by the simple story of Maria Goretti.

On a hot afternoon in July (1902), Maria was sitting at the top of the stairs of her house, mending a shirt. A cart stopped outside, and a neighbor, 18-year-old Alessandro, ran up the stairs. He seized her and pulled her into a bedroom. She struggled and tried to call for help. "No, God does not wish it," she cried out. "It is a sin. You would go to hell for it." Alessandro began striking at her blindly with a long dagger.

Alessandro was sentenced to 30 years in prison. For a long time he was unrepentant and surly. One night he had a dream or vision of Maria gathering flowers and offering them to him. His life changed. When he was released after 27 years, his first act was to go to beg the forgiveness of Maria's mother.

Devotion to the young martyr grew, miracles were worked, and in less than half a century she was canonized. She is the patron of chastity, purity, teenage girls, and forgiveness.

God, grant healing and peace to the sick of our communities who have requested our prayers:

Reflections on Religious Freedom

Where the principle of religious freedom is not only proclaimed in words or simply incorporated in law but also given sincere and practical application, there the Church succeeds in achieving a stable situation of right as well as of fact and the independence which is necessary for the fulfillment of her divine mission. This independence is precisely what the authorities of the Church claim in society. At the same time, the Christian faithful, in common with all other men, possess the civil right not to be hindered in leading their lives in accordance with their conscience. Therefore, a harmony exists between the freedom of the Church and the religious freedom which is to be recognized as the right of all men and communities and sanctioned by constitutional law. Declaration on Religious Liberty, Second Vatican Council (Dignitatis Humanae), no. 13 December 7, 1965

While insisting upon the religious freedom of the Church, the Second Vatican Council Fathers do not wish to give the impression that in some manner the Catholic Church is special when it comes to religious liberty. Thus, the Council first states above that where the principle of religious liberty is present, the Church is able to peaceably fulfill her divine mission. It is this amicable relationship between herself and civil authorities that the Church always wishes to pursue and ensure. In the light of this, the Church also champions the religious and civil rights of all so that all people can live “their lives in accordance with their conscience.” In this way there is no conflict with what the Church demands for herself and what she demands for others—the freedom to follow one’s conscience in matters religious. This religious freedom for all is what the Council once more believes should be acknowledged and sanctioned within the constitutional law of countries.

In the United States, religious freedom is protected in the Constitution, as the Council desires. Are those constitutional protections enough? Are they growing stronger or weaker in our society today? What else, apart from the law, can strengthen or weaken religious liberty? What should Catholics do to defend and foster religious liberty in America today? What have Catholics done in the past when religious liberty was threatened?

Please pray for our country!

Sunday Bible Reflections with Dr. Scott

The Liturgy this week continues to instruct us in the elements of discipleship. We're told that even the most humble among us have a share in the mission Christ gives to His Church.

We're not all called to the ministry of the Apostles, or to be prophets like Elisha in today's First Reading. But each of us is called to a holy life (see 2 Timothy 1:9; 1 Thessalonians 4:3).

At Baptism our lives were joined forever to the cross of Christ, as Paul tells us in today's Epistle. Baptized into His death, we're to renounce sin and live for God in Christ Jesus.

We are to follow Him, each of us taking up our personal cross, as Jesus says in today's Gospel. That doesn't mean we will all be asked to suffer a martyr's death. But each of us is called to self-denial, to the offering of our lives in service of God's plan.

Jesus must be elevated to first place in our lives—above even our closest bonds of kinship and love. By Baptism, we've been made part of a new family—the kingdom of God, the Church. We are to proclaim that kingdom with our lives, bringing our fathers and mothers, and all men and women to live as "little ones" under the fatherhood of God and the kingship of the Holy One.

We do this by opening our hearts and homes to the service of the Lord, following the Shunnamite woman's example in today's First Reading. As Jesus tells us, we're to receive others—not only prophets, but also little children, the poor and the imprisoned—as we receive Christ himself (see Matthew 18:5; 25:31-46). As we sing in today's Psalm, we are to testify to His favors and kindness in our lives.

We're to hold fast to the promise—that if we have died with Christ, we shall also live, that if we lose our lives for His sake, we shall find our reward, and walk forever in His countenance.
